SERGEYEVKA ARMY BARRACKS NO 2, SERGEYEVKA, USSR

25X1A

25X1A

Sergeyevka Army Barracks No 2 is located on the southern edge of Sergeyevka at 44-19N 131-39E, 18 nautical miles (nm) east of the USSR-China border (Figure 1). This installation covers approximately 1,300 acres and consists of 3 separate but closely associated barracks and training areas with a total troop capacity of 4,960 men.* A POL storage area approximately one nm west-southwest probably serves the installation. For this report, these areas have been labeled A, B, C, and D.

Area A (Figure 2), located on the southeast edge of Sergeyevka, is a probable headquarters and barracks area which contains one U-shaped two-story administration building, two administrative or support buildings, one H-shaped mess hall, 6 two-story barracks with a total capacity of approximately 2,434 men, 13 storage buildings, 2 vehicle or equipment sheds, 15 support

*Troop capacity computed on the basis of 50 square feet per man.

Area C (Figure 4), located approximately 5,200 feet south-southeast of Area A, is a probable vehicle storage and maintenance area which contains 3 administration buildings, 3 probable two-story barracks with a total capacity of approximately 1,638 men, one H-shaped mess hall, 15 storage and 11 support buildings, one vehicle or equipment shed, one woodworking shop, a POL facility and storage area and 2 secured vehicle parks--one containing at least 50 probable cargo trucks and one containing at least 50 possible prime movers.

An analysis of available photography of the three areas revealed no evidence of antennas or communications facilities.

Area D (Figure 5), located approximately 7,900 feet west-southwest of Area A, is a rail-served POL storage area containing approximately 120 partially revetted, cylindrical POL storage tanks in 12 separate groups, approximately 20 unrevetted cylindrical POL storage tanks in 3 separate groups, 8 buried POL storage tanks, 5 probable storage tanks on flat cars on a rail siding, a group of buried probable POL storage tanks, one probable administration building, one probable barracks with a capacity of approximately 96 men, 7 storage and 15 support buildings and one probable vehicle shed under construction.

This POL storage area does not appear to be directly connected with Sergeyevka Barracks No 2, but probably serves it along with other military installations in the area, and is therefore included in this report.
